

One Black Woman StoryTelling Services

Introducing Team StoryTelling

Short Scriptwriting Crash Course

MONDAYS: October 30, November 6, 13, & 20 6:30-9pm

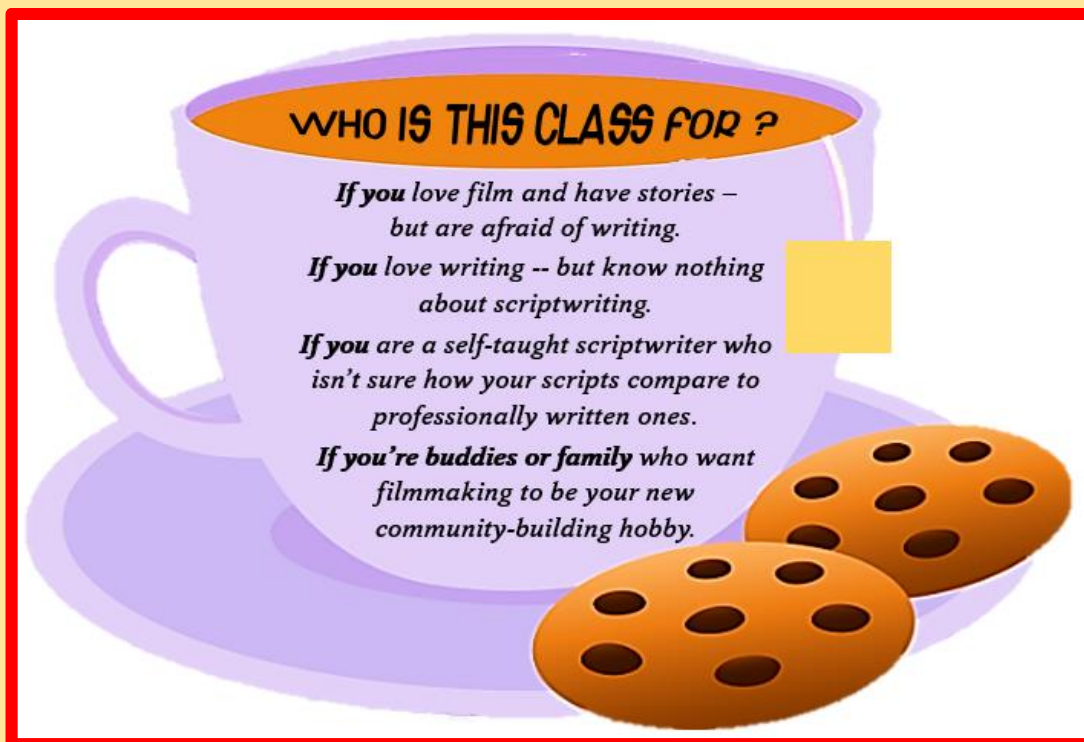

The VAPA Center, 3rd flr, 700 N. Tryon St, Charlotte, NC

Cost: ($100) / Class Limit: 10 Students

Two Teacher Assistant Positions Available For Reduced Class Rate ($60) / Single Class Audit ($15)

TO REGISTER (+ Detailed Outline Of Class): www.catering2us.com/scriptwriting-class

Check Out Free StoryTelling Lessons: www.catering2us.com/free-lessons

Your 1st Short Scripts & Films Are Practice For You To Learn How To Tell A Visual Story !

In this unique class students write first drafts of short scripts (2-6 pgs.), then the class turns into a Writer's Room. Students select one of the developing scripts to workshop. You will learn to add complexity, intrigue, and believability to the characters and the story structure, as you envision a vivid, low/no-cost-to-shoot, visual world for the Story. Lessons end by taking students through the steps of breaking down and rehearsing a script in the creative pre-production period. Students are encouraged to do practice shoots to continue their learning of how to write a script that is the blueprint for a cinematic film.

Trayce Gardner, the instructor and creator of the class, taught Scriptwriting for years at various community locations in Brooklyn, NY, as well as for six years at New York City's College of Technology's Continuing Ed. Email her if you'd like to set up a phone interview to discuss the class catering2us@gmail.com